

Could your hotel benefit from an on-premise laundry?

Bringing laundry processes in-house can make a big difference to your business' reputation and its bottom line. And, with hygiene being more important now than ever before, greater control over the laundry means you can ensure items are being washed thoroughly and to a high standard, so you can be confident that you're providing a clean and safe environment for your customers.

So, could you make the move to an on-premise laundry (OPL)?
Time to consider the following factors.

Quality

Maintain extremely high guest standards

- ✓ Laundry stays on-site, making it easier to manage and deliver faster room turnaround times
- ✓ Define and oversee correct laundry procedures for hygiene and cleanliness
- ✓ Instil quality values in your laundry staff
- ✓ Enhanced control reduces risk of laundry items being lost or damaged
- ✓ Ensure good customer service with high standards of hygiene and cleanliness and quick turnaround times

Cost

Discover the financial benefits of an OPL

- ✓ Lifetime costs of appliances and associated services will be lower than outsourcing, as long as you choose a brand known for quality and longevity
- ✓ Energy efficient appliances mean lower than anticipated utility bills
- ✓ Staff who manage the outsourced relationship could be running the OPL
- ✓ A quality, reliable OPL does not need to be replaced as often, helping you to save money in the long term and contribute less waste to landfill.

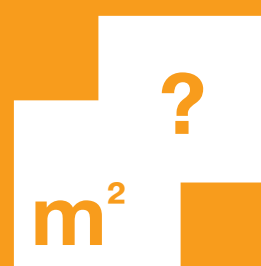

Speed

Ensure sheets, towels and pillowcases arrive before your guests do!

An OPL:

- ✓ Cuts out the time it takes to transport laundry to and from an outsourcer
- ✓ Improves workflow between laundry and housekeeping teams
- ✓ Can potentially reduce the quantity of linen and towels you need to buy

Space

Don't think you've got enough room for an OPL? Think again!

- ✓ The minimum space requirement can be as little as 1m²
- ✓ You could use a cellar, cupboard or unpopular guest room
- ✓ Choose a machine with a high load capacity to space ratio
- ✓ Specialist laundry equipment suppliers can help with site surveys, layout suggestions, designs, and machine specification

To learn more about bringing your laundry on-site and under control, head to our hotel insights page or simply get in touch.