

Miele

Did you know...

Find out below why investing in a commercial machine could be the best move for your veterinary practice and the benefits that it can bring to you and your clientele.

...that the lifetime cost comparison of commercial machines is lower than domestic models?

Tech innovation

From the integrated WiFi functionality that allows a user to have more control over laundry to automatic load controls that adjusts to use precise water and energy requirements, our commercial machines are equipped with the latest technology to optimise laundry processes, saving both time and money.

Reputation management

Commercial machines provide reassurance that hygiene standards are adhered to by reaching the high temperatures required to kill harmful bacteria.

Miele Professional machines offer a range of disinfection programmes and many are WRAS Category 5 approved protecting your customers and your reputation.

Reliability

Domestic machines are simply not built to withstand heavy loads and frequent use. Commercial machines are durable, reliable and offer the right features to avoid the clogging of pipes with animal fur while providing programmes to suit the laundry requirements of a vet's practice. With a Miele Professional service contract, you will also receive regular service and maintenance by local experts to ensure minimal downtime.

Built to last

Our research shows 46% of UK vets use domestic machines that are typically tested for up to 5,000 cycles. Miele commercial machines are tested to 30,000 cycles –the equivalent of eight cycles a day, seven days a week for over ten years - that means replacing your domestic machine an average of six times over the lifetime of your commercial one.

Short cycles

With an average wash and dry time of 210 minutes, domestic machines can waste precious time. For maximum laundry throughput, commercial machines offer short cycle times such as our Little Giant range, with cycle times of only 49 mins for washing and 38 mins for drying.

Energy efficient

Combining sustainability with innovation, we always strive to make sure our Miele machines are economical and energy efficient, meaning price-per-wash is typically more cost effective than domestic equipment. Opting for a commercial machine is a perfect way for vets to save money while achieving green credentials. Some models in our new Little Giants range even have a A+++ energy rating!

The durability and longevity of our commercial machines create less waste and therefore reduce the impact on the environment. When it comes to end of life, take a look at our Little Giants machines which are 95% recyclable.

We spoke to over 100 vet practice workers at the 2019 London Vet Show and found that:

93% agree that reliable laundry is extremely important to the everyday running of the practice.

78% have to contend with laundry equipment that breaks down, causing mountains of dirty washing and racking up repair costs.

89% of vet practices process multiple loads of laundry daily.

Commercial saves, domestic costs

To learn more about the benefits of investing in a commercial machine for your vet practice, head to our vets insights page or simply get in touch.